The Make-Up of Ice Poems by Paul Zarzyski

"Paul Zarzyski is a man of many hats—fisherman, bronc rider, son, worker, lover. From the white heat of his rodeo arenas to the calm lakes and clear streams of all our lives, this poet captures experience the way a bear goes after salmon—with confidence and patience, with intensity and purpose"—Jim Welch.

The editors and staff of CutBank 25 wish to thank the print shop personnel for their patience and generous assistance.

CutBank 25 was set and printed at the University of Montana Print Shop. The type faces are Helvetica and Korinna. The paper is Sundance text.

CutBank 25 was designed by Bronwyn G. Pughe. The editors and staff wish to thank her for her generous donation of time and expertise in artistic and financial matters.

The editors and staff of CutBank 25 would also like to thank University of Montana historian William Farr for access to his collection of Native American photographs. A selection is reprinted in this issue's featured section, The Stone That Will Not Break. (Courtesy of Don Magee, the Sherbourne Collection, Joyce Turvey, University of Montana Library Collection, and the Glacier National Park Archives). And we would like to acknowledge the University of Washington Press which published The Reservation Blackfeet: A Photographic History of Cultural Survival, William Farr, 1985, in which these photographs first appeared together.
